Dempsey Afraid of the Cars THE fault lies with one party or the other. There is no in between person responsible. Dempsey was advertised to meet Levinsky and he didn't. Now, either Dempsey did not keep faith with the Causey Driven From Box in comoters of the Ebbets Field show or they presumed too much.

At Long Beach Sunday we met a friend of Dempsey's who said that he newest heavyweight title aspirant never had agreed to box Levinsky, d that the original lithographs, in which Dempsey was advertised to slash with Clay Turner, his boxing partner, proved that. It is evident from the press matter sent out by the committee in charge that they beneved Dempsey would meet Levinsky, and, assuredly, they must have eased their datum on more than the wish.

Dempsey didn't meet Levinsky, a handsome assemblage was disapcointed in consequence—although the show in its entirety was the best count of 2 to 1. After a while Dempsey, and this Kearns, will operate with the same assurance that Benny Leonard and Billy Gibson de. They will realize then that the customers are always boisterously with the wirmer, and all then that the customers are always boisterously with the wirmer, and all that is necessary to please is a little "grand-standing" now and then, and that the Forty Thieves and their operations, whom we have always at hand, really don't amount to much and never have had enough brains to defeat ability. Dempsey is all right. He needs only a little more success to make him feel sure of himself.

Schmidt's single.

The Giants tied the count in the third on Burns's single and steal and Doyle's smash through McKechnie. The Pirates got this run back in the fourth by reason of McKechnie's triple and a bad throw by Sicking.

The fifth saw the beginning of the end of Causey. Carey beat a bunt. Southworth doubled and Cutshaw tripled two runs being the outcome.

his blows that high-powered vitality which ever is to be discerned in the real work of champions. His blows are like explosions and seem to carry that communicable spark which means knock-outs. His eyes are a single by Burns, a pass, a force-out terribly earnest and his mouth a resolute slit when he is working. He is as unmindful of anything except the business at hand as a painter of

Dempsey as a great fighter of his poundage, which does not necessarily

The Pirates picked up their lone run mean he would beat Jess Willard. His boxing reminds us of Eddie Colling's ball playing, in that Dempsey is extremely concerned with doing the thing before him that should be done and doing it far better than the average. But to see Collins at ease on a baseball bench, or Dempsey lolling in a corner, any one unacquainted with either would not be particularly prepossessed by them at a superficial glance.

It is a fact that Dempsey sat in his corner over in Ebbets Field the other night while the customers lustily shouted "Where is Dempsey" Bring him on!" From a distance Dempsey doesn't look his greatness and his stature is against him in that he is small and not at all physically impressive, like Jeffries, Johnson, Corbett et al. In this he is the reverse of Fred Fulton, who could fool one from a distance of fifty yards into believing he was of championship timber, whereas a closer inspection showed that he had merely size and none of the fineness one perceives in blooded horses, fighters and ball players.

A Dempsey and Willard fight may come off at length, but unless Willard has dissipated too greatly we cannot see how this match, in which Dempsey would be outweighed by almost a hundred pounds, can be anything like a fair one.

Burlesque de Luxe

THE motor races at the Speedway last Saturday were transparently dull. There can be no genuine competition when one team or one man has nine-tenths of the ability. De Palma, with a machine that was at least a second or two faster to the lap than any driven by his competitors, won all five races as he pleased, and could have made the afternoon even duller had he chosen to do so by taking these races with such margins of advantage as to have made his opposition look ridiculous.

Instead, for the benefit of the customers, he played at racing-let Mulford and Resta take the lead now and then, executed a few dizzying spurts on the homestretch, and, in sum, played his part as fine as any actor. Had there been a greater field of machines, say a dozen or more, with the chance of accident increased, etc., it would have been more exciting, even though De Palma still would have possessed an undeniable

Why Not

Jack Reddy, who manages Billy Miske, has forwarded us a lengthy sob story, in which he says Miske is not afraid to meet Dempsey and that no such impression ever should have been paraded before the public. Very well, let him meet Dempsey then. It looks like the best match possible in the heavyweight division.

Caldwell Outpitches Veteran Jack Quinn, but Yanks Fail to Bunch Hits

By Charles A. Taylor

The Yankees tumbled down into fifth place yesterday afternoon as the result of their defeat at the hands of the White Sox. The score was 4 to 1. At the rate the Huggins men are slipping

Phillies Defeat Cards In a "Juggling" Game

What promises to be the best hurling and Gaelic football carnival ever decided at Celtic Park will be staged next Sunday. The play will be for the benefit of St. John's Hospital, of Long Island City. In the hurling match Cork will meet Clare, while the two championship football games will bring together Galway and Kildare and Cork and Waterford.

In a Juggling Came

ST. LOUIS. Aug. 19. After playing two games of the present series without an error both sides juggled the ball to-day. Errors behind Ames proved the more costly and Philadelphia broke its losing strenk by winning from St. Louis 7 to 1. Not a run on either side was earned.

The score:

Aqueduct Concessions

Awarded to Stevens James A. Shevlin, president of the Aqueduct racing establishment of the Queens County Jockey Club, who so pleased Eastern followers of the turf with his many improvements at that popular course, particularly with the new clubhouse and general grandstand renovations, has made another ten strike, which was just announced yesterday.

strike, which was just announced yesterday.

Mr. Shevlin has closed a contract with Harry M. Stevens, and the king of caterers, who has served so faithfully these may years at Belmont Park, not to tiention Saratoga, will be in charge of the good things to eat and drink at the fall meeting at Aqueduct the jear. Aqueduct promises to rival in coularity the picturesque Belmont Park this fall
